Frankfort, Mokena Boards Give Nod to Master Plan Project

The Frankfort and Mokena village boards have given approval of the recommendations of the plan commissions to employ a firm of professional planners to draft a land use map for the area.

New Lenox had been invited to join with Mokena and Frankfort but representatives from the board there who attended a meeting of the plan groups said they were without funds for such a purpose.

Cost of the plan survey and copies of the land use map has been announced as $8,300. The plan commissions were assured by the planning firms they have consulted that the federal government would pay half of the cost, which would leave $4,150 to be paid by the two communities.

Indications were that contributions from the grade and high school board would be forthcoming, inasmuch as the plan would be of value to them, so that the money to be raised by the villages would be reduced still further. It is possible, it was said, that utilities and railroads might donate to the fund and those in charge hope that when all contributions are in the share each village will have to pay will be around $1,500.

Both villages have given their approval subject to a proviso that a federal grant will be obtained.

The Mokena board also wants assurance from the Will county board of supervisors, in writing, that it will co-operate with the villages in their zoning.

Only Woman Engineer in Staff of 50

Mrs. Florine Cain, whose parents were born and reared in Mokena and New Lenox, at 30, is one of the top aeronautical engineers in the country. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klatt of Joliet. Her father was born in Mokena and her mother in New Lenox. They moved to Joliet when they married.

Her aunt is Mrs. Andrew Cappel of Mokena from whom the picture of Florine was obtained.

The young aviation engineer became interested in aeronautics at an early age and believes vocational guidance should be started early with children instead of waiting until their education is completed before deciding on a vocation.

Employed at the Lockheed aircraft division in Van Nuys, Calif., where she is engaged in design engineering in the missile systems division, Mrs. Cain is the only woman engineer on the staff of 50.

She graduated from Joliet Township high school in 1946 and from Joliet Junior college in 1948, then entered Purdue university to specialize in the study of aircraft engines.

After graduation from Purdue in 1951, she married A. Chaney Bender, whose family lived in Mokena for many years. He and his father were killed in the crash of their private airplane in 1954.

Prior to becoming associated with Lockheed, where she met her present husband, Richard Cain, who is contracts administrator at the plant, she did diesel powerplant work with the railroad.

FLORINE CAIN

The couple live in Beverly Hills, Calif., where they enjoy relaxing pleasures of sailing on their ketch, "Love Affair", and swimming in their pool. Both are ardent sports car racing fans.

Getting Out Vote for Judges to be Big Chore

Getting out the vote for the special judicial election scheduled for Sept. 2 in Will, Kankakee and Iroquois counties—which make up the 12th circuit—is a matter of considerable concern for both camps.

There are only two names on the ballot, David H. Oram, and Donald F. Delaney. Oram is from Watseka and is the Republican candidate. Delaney is from Joliet and is the Democrat candidate.

They are running for the unexpired term of the late Circuit Judge Roscoe C. South. Judge South was re-elected to the bench a year ago in June 1957, for a six year term. He died May 10.

Gov. Stratton ordered a special election and set the election date. The Demos have taken the governor to task because of this date, pointing out that it would have saved money for all three counties if the election had been ordered for the same date as the regular election in November. Political observers, however, say that the Demos aren't interested so much in the economics of the question as they are in fact that Sept. 2 is the day following Labor day.

What with the opening of school, the ending of vacations and the effects of the long Labor Day weekend politicians reason that only the organized vote can be prodded to the polls and that in such a vote the Republicans would have an advantage. The vote in judicial elections is usually light and it is expected this one will be lighter than usual.

The polls, incidentally, will be open 12 hours, from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Oram has been concentrating his efforts in Will county the past two weeks. He was in Mokena and Frankfort and New Lenox about 10 days ago and last week and this he has been visiting the other county towns.

The Republican strength in Will county is concentrated in the country towns. In Joliet township the Democrats usually have an advantage, when they are not fighting. This year the Will county Demos are all buddy-buddy. Peace and harmony prevails and not a hatchet or scalping knife is to be seen—not even the bulge of one—concealed.

On top of that some Republican lawyers are said to be favorable to Delaney's candidacy. They point out that most of the litigation in the circuit originates in Will county and the county bar association went on record as favoring selection of a Will county man to fill the vacancy on the bench on the grounds that the county should have two judges. Therefore, some of the lawyers look on Delaney, not as a Democrat, but as a Will county candidate.

All this causes considerable concern to the Republican leaders and as a result they will concentrate their efforts on getting out the vote in those areas known to be favorable to the GOP.

Kankakee and Iroquois counties are predominantly Republican so party leaders reason that Oram should be the victor. Political observers for the most part are inclined to go along with this thought but point out that a serious defection of Republican voters in Will county could spell defeat.

The Will County Republican Women's club is to give a reception for Mr. Oram next Tuesday night, Aug. 26, in the Terrace Room of the Woodruff hotel, Jefferson and Scott streets, Joliet. The public is invited and the affair is expected to be one of the highlights of the closing days of the campaign.

Some Registrations are Set for Next Week

School bells will ring again Sept. 2 and 3.

With the resumption of classes only 12 days away mothers have again reached the stage where getting wardrobes ready for the young in addition to their other tasks has them straining and—as in the case of Christmas shopping and mailing Christmas cards—vowing to do it earlier next year.

Mokena
The Mokena public school will open Tuesday, Sept. 2 at 9 a.m. Parents of children who will be entering first and fifth grades are asked to make sure that their children have the necessary dental and physical examinations by the time school opens. Children who will be six years old by Dec. 1 will be eligible to start school this fall. The faculty will meet for workshop prior to opening of school.

St. Mary's parochial school will open on Wednesday, Sept. 3 at 9 a.m. All children entering first and fifth grades are asked to have their dental and physical examinations before starting school. Children who will be six years old by Dec. 1 will be eligible to start school. Sister Mercedes of Scherrville, Ind. will replace Sister T. Clare as principal.

Frankfort
The Frankfort Community consolidated public school will open on Tuesday, Sept. 2 for registration of all children from 9 a.m. to 9:45 a.m. There will be a book sale in the gymnasium beginning at 10 a.m. All first and fifth graders must bring with them their dental and physical examination reports with them. Children must be six years of age by Dec. 1 to be eligible for entrance in first grade. All children, regardless of grade, who are enrolling in Frankfort school for the first time, must also present their health records.

Lincoln Estates
The Ann Rutledge school of Lincoln Estates will open on Tuesday, Sept. 2 at 9 a.m. for registration and collection for the book rental. For the first four grades the rental will be $5 per student and the upper four grades the cost will be $6 per student. The first and fifth graders must present their dental and physical examinations. All students, regardless of age, must present their health records and transfer slips who are entering school for the first time.

Orland Park
The new addition to the Orland Park grade school will be completed for the beginning of the school term on Tuesday, Sept. 2 at 8:55 a.m. At this time all textbooks rentals will be collected. Registration for new students will be on Monday, August 25 and Tuesday August 26.

The new addition will house grades one to five and the three upper grades will be in the old building.

Students in grades one and five are reminded to bring their health certificates on Tuesday, Sept. 2, the first day of school.

St. Michael's Parochial school will start on Wednesday, Sept. 3 at 8:30 a.m. for a full day of school. As there are so many first graders it will be necessary to have morning and afternoon classes for this grade only. The school buses will run on their regular schedule commencing the first day of school.

Orland Center school, Dist. 136, which is to open Sept. 2 is to have registration of all pupils next Tuesday, Aug. 26 at the school, between 10 o'clock and noon. The school is located at 151st and 94th ave. Dist. 136 has a new school building to house classes this year. It serves pupils from grade one thru eight.

New Lenox
The New Lenox grade schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 2 from 9 a.m. to 10:15 a.m. The bus which operates in the rural area will leave the Oakview school at 11 a.m.

Expect Many Visitors to Attend Mokena Picnic, Park Dedication

The Mokena community picnic, sponsored by the Lions club of that community, is to be held Sunday in Community park, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The occasion, besides being one of fun, games and entertainment, will also mark the formal dedication of the park. Leo Marcoux is to be master of ceremonies.

The park, purchased by public subscription with title vesting in the Civic Association, has been in existence some five years but had never been formally dedicated.

Arthur Omland, an active worker on the Boy Scouts and vice president of the Mokena Lions, will represent the club at the dedication ceremony. The club president, George Bills, is on vacation. Charles Swanberg, president of the park commission, Mayor James Marti and Ray Hoolehan, president of the Civic Association are the others who will take part. The speakers will be Victor Hyde, of the University of Illinois, and William E. Rose, of Hinsdale, a landscape architect.

The Lions will furnish free pop, ice cream and pony rides for the youngsters and the kids can draw their tickets for these things at the registration booth, which will be open from noon to 5 p.m.

Mokena residents and former residents as well as those in the surrounding area are invited to the affair. Since it is a picnic all comers are expected to bring their own baskets altho there will be a refreshment booth. As a matter of fact there will be a number of booths, operated by the Friendly Circle of St. John's church; Holy Name Society of St. Mary's church; Sacred Heart League of St. Mary's church; Royal Neighbors, Mokena Volunteer Fire Department; Mokena Chamber of Commerce; Mokena Community Park Board; Mokena Band Boosters; Mokena Book Club; Mokena Boy Scouts.

There will be races for children of grade school age at 2 o'clock and at 3 o'clock the Old Timers are to play a baseball game against a team made up of younger men. The name of Jim Walsh was inadvertently left out of the Old Timers line up last week. The team of younger men is made up of: James Stanick, Ronald Yunker, Slug Erickson, Ronald Sentis, Skippy Kruzich, Wayne Lauffer, Jerry Haehnlein, Mark Muehler, Ronald Badten, Steve Smith, Michael Sheridan, Thomas Heineke and John Marce.

In the event of rain the picnic will be held the following Sunday.

Lincoln-Way Sets Up Schedule for Opening of New School Year

The freshmen at Lincoln-Way will be off to an early start this year, coming in for a special half-day orientation on Friday, Aug. 29 beginning at 8:15 a.m. and leaving at 11:44 a.m. The purpose for this half day is to acquaint the freshmen with their teachers, to review school policies, and to ask any questions about the high school program.

The freshmen will report to their group guidance section at 8:15. Guidance assignments will be posted on the bulletin board in the main lobby. No fees will be collected on this day.

Tuesday, Sept. 2 all students will be in attendance. This will also be a half day beginning at 8:15 and ending at 11:44. Upon arrival at school the students will check the bulletin board for guidance group assignments. They will go directly to their guidance group to receive their schedule cards. Fees may be paid on Tuesday, Sept. 2 or Wednesday, Sept. 3.

The breakdown of student fees is as follows:

The yearbook subscription may also be paid at this time.

Hold Pair for Tinley Bowling Lanes Burglary

The case of the two Mokena men who are alleged to have admitted burglarizing the Tinley Park bowling lanes the Aug. 2-3 week-end, is scheduled to come before County Judge John C. Cowing at Joliet a week from tomorrow, Aug. 29.

The Will county state's attorney's office has charged the pair with larceny in an information filed in the county court. The case was to have come up for disposition last week-end but because of press of other matters it was continued.

The two men are: Lyle McKenzie, 19, and Gerald Gerri, 27.

The pair entered the bowling alley by breaking out a window. They also used it as an exit and that led to their apprehension. There were some jagged pieces of glass in the frame that raked McKenzie's head as he was leaving. He lost considerable blood and some hours later went to Silver Cross hospital for treatment. He explained his injuries by a wild tale of an attack by a couple of men he encountered while walking along U.S. 30 in the early morning hours.

Later under questioning by Deputy Sheriffs Charles Timm, John Shelley and Lee Ruppard, McKenzie is alleged to have confessed to having broken into the bowling alley and Gerri was taken into custody. He too is alleged to have admitted his part in the affair. The loot taken at the lanes amounted to some $30, according to the operators.

Both men are now at liberty under bonds of $2,000 each.

McKenzie also admitted breaking into the Dari-Castle stand on Wolf road, Mokena, about three weeks ago but denied any part in the burglary at the Mokena Oil Co. several months ago, investigators said.

Gerri had no part in the Dari-Castle entry, according to McKenzie, the deputies said.

Down payment is $2, and the total cost is $4. The school's hot lunch program will begin Wednesday, Sept. 3.

All new students in District No. 210 who have not registered for this school year should do so prior to the opening day.

Bus routes and schedules will remain about the same as last year. Any necessary changes will be worked out during the first days of school.

RETARDED CHILDREN ENJOY POOL—These youngsters from Trinity school on Gougar road, and their parents spent an enjoyable afternoon last Saturday as guests of the Wayne Cundiffs. The Cundiffs have a swimming pool in the yard at their home on First st., Mokena, and the youngsters made good use of it. Pupils at Trinity school for retarded children come from various parts of the area, including Mokena, Joliet and Plainfield. The school is supported by the parents with the aid of various community organizations. A Mokena inhalator squad stood by in case of emergency. Fortunately its services were not needed. (Marvin Smith photo).

Patricia Meyer, Ronald Koehler Are Wed at St. George Church

On Saturday, July 2, Patricia Anne Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Meyer, 6542 Pine Point drive, Tinley Park, became the bride of Ronald H. Koehler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Her. A. Koehler, of Oak Forest.

The single ring ceremony was held in St. George church, Tinley Park, with the Rev. Thomas D. O'Connell officiating.

The bride's ballerina gown was of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, trimmed with tiny hand-sewn pastel sequins and white seed pearls. Her fingertip veil and cap of white Chantilly lace also was trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. She was escorted down the aisle by her father.

Her colonial bouquet was of white carnations and baby pink rosebuds. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls with matching earrings, a gift from the groom.

The maid of honor, Eileen Whalen of Tinley Park, wore a ballerina length gown of white starched lace over pink nylon tulle. She wore a pink picture hat and matching accessories. Her colonial bouquet was of pink carnations.

Sharon Zish of Oak Forest, and Janet Koehler, sister of the groom were bridesmaids. Both wore ballerina length gowns with picture hats and accessories to match. Their colonial bouquets of carnations were tinted to match their accessories. Sharon's gown was of white starched lace over yellow nylon tulle. Janet's was similar except in blue nylon tulle.

The flower girl, Sherry Nault of Chicago, wore an orchid tulle gown with matching picture hat and accessories. She also carried a colonial bouquet of carnations tinted to match her gown and accessories.

The bride's attendants each wore a gold chain with cross of seed pearls and matching earrings. The flower girl wore a gold cross and chain, all gifts from the bride.

The best man was Terry Jisk, ushers were George Rudd and Walter Klaybower, all of Oak Forest. Junior ushers were Rusty Meyer, brother of the bride, and Gregory Schren, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother was attired in a Windsor blue nylon lace gown. She wore a picture hat of pink starched lace with matching accessories and jewelry. Her corsage was pink carnations and baby pink rosebuds.

The groom's mother wore a gown of powder blue lace. Her hat of tiny white flowers matched her jewelry and accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

The altar of the church was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and carnations.

The organist was Miss Anne Feldner. The soloist who sang, "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother" as the bride placed a special bouquet at the foot of the statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary, was Mrs. Robert Menter.

Present at the ceremony were grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sallman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Meyer; also the grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. J. Schren Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. R. Watt.

A reception for 300 guests was held in Chicago, where a buffet supper was served. Dancing was enjoyed to the music of Tom Noonan and his band, from Tinley Park.

The newlyweds motored to Jacksonville, Fla. and are now at home in Oak Forest.

The bride is a former employee of the Jewel Tea Company of Palos Heights and Tinley Park. The groom is employed at the Andrew Corporation, Orland Park.

Feted at Showers Prior to Marriage

Two wedding showers given for the former Patricia Meyer of Tinley Park were held prior to her marriage to Ronald Koehler of Oak Forest, in Chicago and Tinley Park.

Aunts of the groom, Mrs. Wanda Richeson, Mrs. Bertha Shouts and Mrs. Violet Faron held a shower for her in Chicago which was attended by 100 guests.

A personal shower was given for her by Mrs. Harley L. Werner and her daughter, Shirley, in their home at 6551 Pine Point drive, Tinley Park, which was attended by relatives and friends.

VFW Auxiliary at Tinley Park Has Breakfast

Senior Vice President Mrs. William Houle and Junior Vice President Mrs. John Johnson were hostesses at a surprise "Come as you are" breakfast Wednesday, Aug. 13 for members of the VFW Auxiliary of Tinley Park.

A tour of the Croydon China company is planned for Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 27. Members or friends wishing to attend should contact the chairman, Mrs. Kermit Mattson, KE 2-2897.

The VFW game night is held every Wednesday beginning at 8 pm, not Friday as mentioned in the VFW article in last week's Tinley Times.

Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid Take Trip to Indiana

The Ladies Aid Society of the Trinity Lutheran church have enjoyed several activities during the summer.

Recently they motored to Valparaiso, Ind., where they toured the Lutheran university including all the buildings and campus. Especially interesting was the newly built chapel of modern architecture and the new deaconess home.

The new dormitories and class rooms were also visited.

On Aug. 14 the Society held their annual picnic at the Happy Bettenhausen home on south Oak Park ave., where a day of fun and relaxation from the usual planning was enjoyed.

The society announces they will sponsor a smorgasbord on Sept. 24 and other plans are also being made for the months ahead.

MISS CAROL ULLRICH

Ullrich-Gardner Wedding Scheduled for Aug. 31

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ullrich of Monee are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter Carol to Mr. James Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gardner of Chicago.

The wedding ceremony will take place on Sunday, Aug. 31 at 3 o'clock in the Green Garden Methodist church with the Rev. John B. Vautrin officiating. All relatives and friends are invited to attend both wedding and reception which will follow immediately in the church basement.

Miss Ullrich is a graduate of Peotone high school and is now employed in the office at Silver Cross hospital.

Mr. Gardner attended school in Chicago and is now employed at the Adair Cartage Co. in Chicago.

Solemnize Storz-Rauch Nuptials in Salem Church at Blue Island

Frederick Rauch, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Rauch, Sr., of Mokena, was united in marriage with Miss Carol Storz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Storz of Blue Island at a double ring ceremony held in the Salem Lutheran church, June 15 in Blue Island. The Rev. Clifford Streck officiated.

The bride was escorted by her father and was lovely in a ballerina length gown of imported lace with a shoulder length veil. She carried a nosegay bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Arlene Kollmann was matron of honor for her sister and wore a yellow crystalet gown with a harem skirt. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies. John Roesener of Mokena, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Marvin Kollmann of Tinley Park, and Harold Homering of Mokena.

Mrs. Stephan Brits played organ selections as the guests were assembling, and also accompanied Monte Barnard as he sang the "Twenty-Third Psalm" and the "Lord's Prayer".

The bride's mother wore a gown of beige lace with pink accessories and the groom's mother chose a gown of blue lace with blue accessories. Both wore corsages of pink cymbidium orchids.

Special guests were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Storz of Thornton and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Penner Sr., of Florida.

The wedding supper was served in the Mokena VFW hall where 150 guests, gathered. Dancing was enjoyed following the supper.

The bride was graduated from the Blue Island high school and has been employed by the Rock Island railroad in the LaSalle street station, Chicago. The groom was graduated from Joliet township high school and served two years with the army in Alaska. He is now associated with his father, owner of the Mokena Oil company.

Following their honeymoon trip to Wisconsin, they have established their home in Mokena.

Future Farmers at L-W Have Busy Summer

A group of twenty FFA members and sponsors from the Lincoln-Way high school attended the Illinois state fair Saturday, August 9. There were three cars driven by Robert Van Rheeden, FFA advisor, Fred Weitendorf and Lewis Ebert. The group left at 6:00 a.m. and returned about 10:30 p.m.

A tour of all of the cattle sheep and swine exhibits was the morning program. The main attraction for the afternoon was the many acres of farm machinery exhibited by the various farm equipment companies.

Some of the group watched harness racing from the Fair Grand Stand in the afternoon. A tired group of boys returned home, but they felt that it was a day well spent recreationally and educationally.

Show at Section 10 FFA Fair
Lincoln-Way FFA members participated in their annual FFA Livestock Show held at Kankakee fair grounds in connection with the Kankakee County Fair. Section 10 consists of part of Will, Cook and Ford counties and all of Kankakee and Iroquois counties.

The show this year was the largest in its history and competition was keener than ever. The following FFA members from Lincoln-Way showed their projects and were awarded the placings and prizes as follows:

Bryan Smith won (5) 1st ratings on his Suffolk sheep for a total premium money of $22.50. Allen Hentsch won (3) 1st ratings on his Duroc hogs and (2) 1st ratings on his DeKalb Poultry for a total premium money of $17.50. Dan Walker showed a Hereford baby beef steer and agriculture produce with winning of (2) 2nd and one 3rd for a total premium money of $8.00. Don Alexander showed Agriculture Produce one 2nd rating and a premium of $1.50. Dennis Helenhouse showed two purebred Guernsey dairy animals. He earned (2) 2nd ratings with a premium of $11.00. Wayne Christiansen showed a purebred Holstein cow, place 2nd rating with a premium of $5.50. Dave Erikson earned a 1st rating and a 2nd rating on his Shropshire sheep with a premium of $.80. Don Waldvogel showed New Hampshire Red hens, placed (2) 1st ratings and one 2nd rating with a premium of $5.50.

Lincoln-Way FFA members have progressed each year since their beginning and feel that this has been a very successful year at the annual FFA Livestock show.

Crop Projects Judged
Each year a committee of Vocational Agriculture teachers tour the farms of the FFA members showing crop projects in Section 10 competition. This past week the projects from Lincoln-Way FFA Chapter were judged and rated by Orville Bottrell, Vo-Ag Instructor, Crete-Monee High school and Robert Van Rheeden, Vo-Ag Instructor, Lincoln Way high school.

The following Lincoln-Way FFA members showed their crop projects and received the following ratings:

Allen Hentsch, soybeans 2nd and corn 1st; Glen Patterson, corn 1st; Wilbur Weber, corn 2nd; Jim Gast, corn 2nd; John Goadby, corn 1st; Harry Johnson, corn 2nd; Bryan Smith soybeans, 2nd; Dan Walker, corn 1st; Allen Hentsch oats, 1st; and Harry Johnson, oats 2nd. The oat projects were judged by the same committee in July.

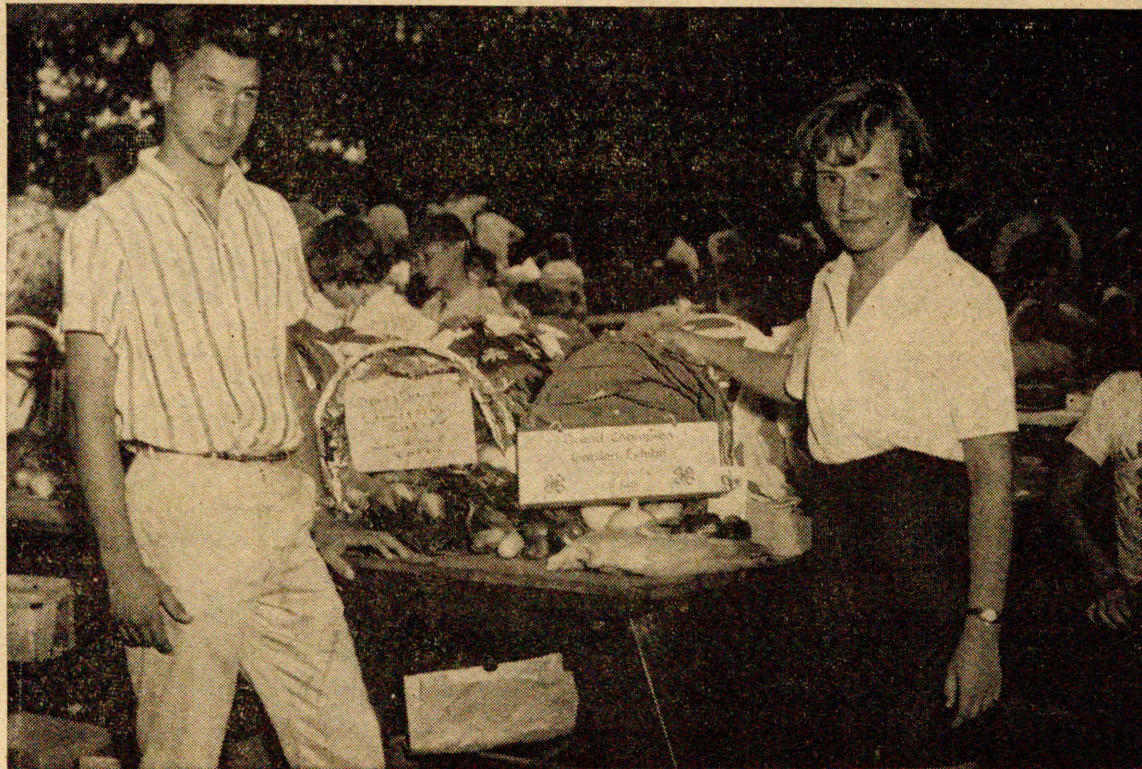

Boys who did not place 1st rating in this group may still have a chance to raise this by the final showing of produce at the Fall FFA Grain show. At that time final ratings will be made, including their project record books and premium money will be determined.

CAMP MANISTEE

Camp Manistee, owned and operated by the South Cook County Girl Scout Council, is now operating its last session of the summer. Nearly 500 girls have made a tent their home in the Manistee National Forest during the camp season and are already counting the days to the big camp reunion in December. Meanwhile, they will be sharing their camp skills and experiences in their troops all over the Council.

The industry-sponsored Tree Farm program means wood for man's use; food and shelter for wildlife; recreational areas; water and soil conservation.

Into the Wild Blue Yonder

Martha Ann, David Go for a Ride

By JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

Youngsters seem to have gotten in early with ballooning in this country. A fifteen year old boy, Edward Warren, made the first ascension in America near Baltimore, Maryland, on June 24, 1784. It was ten years after this before a Frenchman named Blanchard completed a second ascent.

Perhaps the most widely circulated account of a balloon ascension in America tells of an unplanned one that Martha Ann Harvey, eight years old, and her brother, David, three, began near Centraillia on Sept. 17, 1858, three years after "Professor" Silas M. Brooks had made the first Illinois ascent at Chicago on July 4, 1855.

Balloons then were rare in Illinois. Newspapers rated them as first class sources of stories and used such terms as stupendous, sensational, unrivaled, glorious, daring and mysterious to describe them. It was with these terms that they announced that Brooks, "that greatest of American aeronauts", would make an ascent at the Illinois State Fair being held at Centraillia on Sept. 14-17, 1858, the flight to be on the afternoon of the seventeenth.

Brooks was indisposed on that day and the ascent was made by his helper, Samuel Wilson. All went well. The balloon rose from the fairgrounds, quickly reached a height of about two miles and drifted about, pausing about fifteen minutes over Central City, where Wilson whiled away the time reading newspapers that were to be tossed out when he was aloft.

When he tired of staying over Central City, Wilson dumped ballast and rose, as he tells us, to a height of about three miles. From there he could see the Mississippi river and steamboats on it. He also tells of watching a glorious sunset.

As night came on, his balloon began to descend. When it sank low enough, Wilson cast out a long rope with a grappling iron on it. This hook caught in a tree and the farmer, Daniel Harvey, and his son who had never "seen the elephants", hastened to help him. Other members of the family and the neighbors flocked in.

With all holding the balloon by attached ropes, Wilson clambered out of the basket. Harvey climbed in and with others holding the balloon, made a controlled ascent. When he had been hauled down, Harvey placed three of his children in the basket and gave them a similar ride. In the meantime Wilson had turned aside to answer the questions of some women standing nearby. Before doing so, he asked them to securely anchor the balloon.

When the balloon was lowered to unload the children, Mr. Harvey helped his older daughter from the basket first. This suddenly decreased the load and caused the balloon to give such a surge that it tore loose from the grasp of those holding it and from the fence to which it had been anchored.

It sailed away among the stars with Martha Ann and David aboard; Martha Ann crying out, "Mother! let us out; Mother! let us out." In a short time the balloon was out of sight in the darkness and the calls for help could no longer be heard.

An alarm was quickly spread. Mr. Wilson rode one of farmer Harvey's horses into Centraillia to spread the alarm by railroad and by wire. An extra of the local paper appeared the next morning telling the children's plight. Some time during the day news arrived that they had landed safely on the farm of a Mr. Atchinson, not far from Centraillia.

Before daybreak on the morning of Sept. 18, Mr. Atchinson had arisen early to look at Donati's comet, then visible in the sky. He forgot all about the comet, however, when "an immense specter arising from a nearby tree rather appalled him particularly when he heard a childish voice calling for help. Martha was happy to be down, and David complained of being cold.

Fragments of this story still are repeated in the Centraillia region. A full account is in the transactions of the Illinois Agriculture Association for 1858-59, and in numerous paper over the nation.

TINLEY HUSTLERS
The Tinley Hustlers held their regular monthly meeting recently at which time the record books were checked, votes cast for King and Queen of the 4H Fair, and plans made for a film to be shown of the achievement meeting. Jean Siemsen had charge of the recreation period following the meeting, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Fred Heft. The next meeting will be at the home of Karen Bormet.

The Tree Farm program of growing timber as a crop on taxpaying lands, sponsored by the forest industries is helping thousands of small landowners to realize regular income from tree crops.

FARM NEWS

For Cook County by W.F. Whiteside

assistant farm adviser

The oat variety trial on the Herb Kohl farm has been harvested. The ten varieties enjoyed an ideal growing season and the difference between the varieties were small. I would hasten to emphasize that this is a one year test, and accurate information as to varieties can only be obtained over a period of years.

The rainy week of July 28 took its toll, as all of the varieties, except Clarion, were lodged when the plot was combined August 2nd. The varieties, arranged in order from highest to lowest yield, are as follows:

Per Acre	Variety	Bu. Yield	Test Weight
1	Beedee	92.34	38.0
2	Clinton	92.11	37.0
3	Minhafer	91.66	36.5
4	Burnett	90.30	36.0
5	Clinton	89.62	38.0
6	Clarion	86.21	36.5
7	Newton	84.74	40.0
8	Nemaha	78.96	36.0
9	Putnam	78.50	38.0
10	Fayette	73.05	34.0

One important point to remember is that rust did not affect the varieties this year since it did not appear late in the season. In a year with heavy infestation of rust, these results would be considerably different.

I was pleased to receive a report that Tom Eisner of Park Forest, who represented Cook county at the public speaking contest at the state fair, was given an "A" rating for his talk. His talk was also recorded and played over the University radio, station WILL.

Ruth DeBoer of Chicago Heights, appeared on the radio, station WJOH from Chicago Heights, in connection with the South Cook 4H Fair.

Also, in connection with publicizing the 4H Fair, five of our 4H members appeared on a television program which in the most literal sense, laid an egg. A pullet, shown on the program by Jean Siemsen of Tinley Park, was cooperative enough to present the program with an egg during the time it was on the air. This, I understand, was a television "first."

Other 4 H's appearing on this historic program were:

Robert Stephen, Life Resident of Frankfort, Dies

Funeral services for Robert E. Stephen, 83, a lifelong resident of Frankfort, were held Saturday in the Sonntag Funeral Home, Joliet, with the Rev. Benjamin F. Day, pastor of the Frankfort Methodist church, officiating. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery, New Lenox.

Mr. Stephen died in Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, Thursday where he had been confined for a fractured hip suffered in a fall in his home in June.

A son of pioneer Frankfort residents, Mr. Stephen served as the agent there for the Michigan Central railroad for a number of years. Later he opened a grocery store and operated it for a long time. For 20 years he served as village post master.

Following his retirement from the post office he worked for the Barrett Hardware Co., wholesalers in Joliet, for three years prior to his retirement in 1952.

He is survived by his wife, the former Bertha Jensen, whom he married at Joliet in 1899.

Other survivors are two daughters, Mildred, now Mrs. Gilbert H. Wassner of Joliet; and Margaret, now Mrs. Fred Zuttermeister of LaPorte, Ind., and one sister, Mrs. George Andrew of Joliet.

Mr. Stephen was a member of several Masonic bodies, including Joliet Chapter of Royal Arch Masons and Joliet Commandery, Knights Templar.

Seeks Location for New Post Office in Mokena

Mokena may have a new post office building, if the investigation conducted by an inspector from the Post Office department last week, proves that it is warranted.

While no official announcement of his visit to Mokena was made, reportedly it was to inspect a site for a new Post Office building.

Some possible sites have been suggested on Front st. and Wolf rd.

Recently, the Mokena Lions club offered their services in promoting home delivery of mail for Mokena.

The post office will probably be constructed by a firm or individual, then leased to the government.

The Homer Consolidated school will open on Tuesday, Sept. 2 from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m., after which the teachers will attend a faculty meeting.

The buses will follow the usual routes the first day. The milk program will begin on Friday, Sept. 8.

All children starting first grade and every fourth year thereafter are required to have a physical and dental examination and to bring the report to school with them.

day night, the Mokena board Tuesday night.

The plan commissions have two firms with whom they have been negotiating and expect to agree upon one in the immediate future.

map will give the plan By having a land use map on file, it was said, it will be easier to attract industry, will be assured that it will not find itself in the midst of a residential development and possible suits and restrictions and vice versa for home developers. The land use map will give the plan commissions jurisdiction within a radius of a mile and a village so objectionable projects could be kept out, it was said.

In Joliet where planners are now at work the cost is being divided among the city, the high school and grade school boards, the township and the county, with the city bearing the greater share.

Couple Killed in Plane Once Lived in Mokena

A young couple that died in crash of the Dutch airliner near Ireland last Thursday, once lived at Mokena.

They were Peter and Ericka Kuypers, both 20 years old.

The pair met about two years ago on shipboard when their families were coming to the United States to make their home.

The girl was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hoeling of Bonn, Germany. The Hoelings were coming to America under the sponsorship of William Muehler, a Mokena real estate dealer. Besides Ericka there was a son, Kurt.

The Kuypers, Mr. and Mrs. Peter St., and the son and a daughter, Wilhelmina, came to Mokena with the Hoelings and remained here for two or three weeks. Then when Mr. Kuypers couldn't find work in the area he and his wife and daughter went on to California where they now reside, at Whittier.

Peter, in love with Ericka, stayed on. After living in Mokena, on Front st. and Wolf road, for several months, the Hoelings moved to Aurora and purchased a home. Mr. Hoeling and his son are engravers.

Peter and Ericka were married and three months ago went to Europe to renew old friendships. Mr. Hoeling was in Germany recently and had urged them to return with him but they decided to stay on a bit longer and then come back. They were expecting a child and wanted the baby born in America.

They had not intended to come on the airliner that crashed. They had reservations for an earlier plane but missed it by a matter of minutes.

Oppose Multiple Housing on U. S. 30

Mokena Village Attorney, Ray Hoolehan, has been instructed by the village board to attend a county zoning hearing at the Cooper-Hostert garage at Mokena tomorrow night to object to reclassification of land on the south side of U. S. 30 at Wolf road from farm to multiple residential.

A brick machine shed and barn on the property has been converted into dwelling capable of housing more than one family. The property is within a mile and a half of the village.

Will Wreck Old Store Building On Mokena's Front St.

The old building at 128 Front street, Mokena, which once housed the Stellwagen store, is to be taken down. Mayor James Marti informed the village board Monday night that Mrs. Alma Caulfield, the last surviving member of the family, has consented to having the building torn down. It is in an unsafe condition.

The village will stand the expense, if any, of having the building wrecked. There is a possibility that a contractor will remove it for the salvage and in that case the village will pay for the liability insurance to cover the operation.

Annual 4-H Fair Rewards Young Exhibitors

The crowning of the King and Queen, and awarding of 10 grand champion trophies were highlights of the South Cook 4H Fair, held last Saturday near Tinley Park.

Carol Siemsen and Robert Stellwagen, both of Tinley Park, were the regal couple crowned at the ceremonies. They are members of the Tinley Hustlers and Orland Boys 4H clubs.

Members of the court were: Kenneth Uthe, Dale Twietmeyer, Walter Wille; Anne Shimlek, Ruth DeBoer, Margaret Velhuizen.

Earl Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, won the swine champion ship with his Duroc litter; Allen Schultz, Tinley Park, took Beef division honors with his Angus steer, and Allen Feigel had the best dairy animal at the show, a two year old Holstein cow.

Other youthful champions were: Richard Wille, Tinley Park, Crops division; Bill Lorenz, Chicago Heights, Sheep division; Janice Klierem, Mokena, Home Garden display; Kenneth Uthe, Markham, Commercial Garden; LaVerne Siemsen, Tinley Park, rabbit division; and Sandra Glerke, Frankfort, Poultry division with a pen of three pullets.

Laurence Lauffer, Tinley Park, was named the best dairy showman in the contest and was awarded the showmanship plaque.

The exhibits at the Fair represented the work of over 250 4H members, according to William F. Whiteside, Assistant Farm Adviser.

The Fair is sponsored by the South Cook 4H Fair association. The trophies and awards were donated by local merchants and businessmen.

Among the judges was Marvin Smith of Smith Photo Service who judged the photography entries, new to the Fair this year.

Ask Parent Help In Providing Good YMCA Program

A call for help from parents has been issued by the Palos-Orland YMCA.

Seeking parent interest in the organization and active volunteer assistance to supplement the employed staff, parents are needed to serve on committees and lead groups and clubs, it has been reported. Help is also needed in paigns. Additional persons are often required to supervise outings, craft classes, camping trips and parties.

Financial support is also being asked by those parents who feel they can afford to carry a large share of his own child's cost to the YMCA, so the program for youth can be extended to more children.

Mokena Annexes Park to Village

The Mokena village board has annexed Community park on LaPorte road, thus extending the village limits to the south.

Annexation of the park property does not change its status. Title is still in the Civic Association and maintenance and building of roads and other improvements is still the business of the park commission, it was pointed out.

Annexation was recommended by the Mokena plan commission.

Saturday Will Be Moving Day at New Orland Park School

The new addition to Orland Park grade school will be completed tomorrow and on Saturday morning approximately 30 fathers will report at the school to assist in moving equipment into the classrooms.

According to Supt. Norbert Jerling the moving operation is scheduled for a two-hour period, from 10 o'clock to noon.

The new addition will house grades one thru five, using seven of the eight new rooms this year. The three upper grades will use the old building.

Lutherans Tie Up Church Softball Race

Zions Wallop Methodists 17-6 to Share Lead; Play Again Sept. 3

Standings	W	L
Methodists	7	2
Lutheran	7	2
St. George	4	5
Reformed	0	9

Last Friday evening, Zion Lutheran handed the league leading Methodists a decisive, 17-6 shellacking to move into a tie for first place. The Lutherans bunched five runs in the first inning and were never headed. They displayed a solid hitting attack and good defense, behind the fine pitching of Wally Goebel, who was never in serious trouble. The Methodists, on the other hand, looked like anything but a championship team, committing seven errors to aid the victors in there romp.

Reformed Church who thus far hadn't presented a serious problem to anyone in the league, suddenly rose to a high pitch Wednesday evening and nearly sent a strong St. George team sprawling. The Catholics narrowly evaded defeat, when they scored the winning run, in the final inning, on a single by Fitzgerald. Bob Mason scored three runs for St. George, with a home run and a triple, while the father and son combination of Vander-veen Jr. collected five hits between them, for Reformed. With three weeks now remaining on the schedule both St. George and Reformed have a fine opportunity to play a spoiler's role. However if Lutheran and Methodist win their next two games, the league title would hinge on the final game of the season. Here is the remaining schedule:

Aug. 20—Catholic-Lutheran
Aug. 22—Methodist-Reformed
Aug. 27—Lutheran-Reformed
Aug. 29—Catholic-Methodist
Sept. 3—Lutheran-Methodist
Sept. 5 Reformed-Catholic

Harvey Moose Will be Hosts at State Golf Tourney

Loyal Order Of Moose Harvey Lodge No. 1203 is host for the state golf tourney sponsored by the Illinois Moose Association. General Chairman Howard Fairbairn, of Harvey, reports that interest in the tourney this year is greater than ever before. It is to be held Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 30 and 31, at Navajo Hills golf course on 123rd st. and Ridgeland in the Worth-Orland Park Area.

Following play there will be a big dinner for all players and their ladies at the new Moose hall on Dixie highway at 154th street. The meal is to be cooked and served by Harvey Chapter No. 811. Women of the Moose. Presentation of awards and dancing will follow the dinner.

Bob Hauck, Danny Kladis Seek First Feature Race Win at Joliet

Joliet veteran Bob Hauck and newcomer Danny Kladis of Chicago will be gunning for their first feature victory of the season Saturday night in the midget auto races at Joliet Memorial Stadium.

Kladis has been flirting with feature race honors, finishing in the money almost every week. Hauck has been turning in steady performances, coming into his own last week-end when he finished third behind Kladis.

The winner of that race, and the man of the hour Saturday night, is Bob Tattersall of Streator. Tattersall now has won four main events, three of them coming in succession on the last three week-ends. Included in Tattersall's string are victories in the two 50-lap events held thus far.

Among the other pilots who will be in the lineup Saturday are Willie Wildhaber of Lexington, Ill., winner of three features this summer; Billy Woods of Kenosha, Wis.; Walt Wienke of Libertyville; Dom Dellegrazie of Evanston; and Johnny Meyers, Chicago. Included on Saturday's program will be a 25 lap feature race, preceded by four heat races, a handicap and 15 lap semifeature. Time trials will start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m.

Moose Bowling Loops at Harvey Elect Officers

With recent elections in the Men's Moose Bowling League and the Moose Mixed Bowling League, The Harvey Moose Bowling Program is well under way.

The Moose Men's Bowling league will open the 1958-59 season on Sept. 4 at the Coral Lanes at 6:45 p.m. Any entrees can contact Elmer Nelson, Phone Waterfall 8-6118, for further information.

The men elected to office for this season are, Everett Bray, of Tinley Park (formerly of Harvey) president; Ron Dillon, of Harvey, vice president and Elmer Nelson, of Chicago, secretary.

The Moose Mixed Bowling league will start on Sept. 13 at Art's Bowling Alley at 9:00 p.m. Any entrees can contact Viola Krouldes at SYcamore 8-6862 for further information.

The Mixed League officers are, Len Krouldes, of Homewood, president; Chuck Van Eck, of Harvey, vice president and Viola Krouldes and Ray Pietz, of Harvey, secretaries.

Burnham Golf Course to Have Greener Greens

(CNS)—Golfers should find the tees and greens of Burnham golf course, public fee layout operated by the forest preserve district in Thornton township, in much better shape next year.

A complete water distribution system will be installed this fall at the 18-hole golf course at 145th and Burnham avenue. Bids for the work were opened Tuesday by the forest preserve board of commissioners.

The apparent low bid of $25,153 was submitted by Latrobe Engineering company.

Daniel Ryan, board president, said the present water system is antiquated.

Installation of the new system should begin about the middle of September with completion expected by the end of November, said Charles G. Sauers, general superintendent.

Sauers said the new water system is for the tees and greens of the course.

All bids will be tabulated. Sauers is to submit a recommendation on whether to award a contract at the next board meeting Sept. 2.

Seek Bowlers for Tinley Scratch Loop

The Tinley Scratch league, which will bowl at the Tinley Bowling Lanes on Wednesday evenings at 9:15, needs bowlers who can verify their 1957-58 averages at 160 or higher, it was announced. Anyone who is interested may contact Ray Herman, secretary, KE 2-2955.

Tarrential Rains Flood Gardens; Vandals Break School Windows

By DOROTHY GOBLE
KE 2-3696

"The rains came", with a vengeance last Thursday evening and on Friday morning the county highway department sent a crew to open a culvert on 171st street and Oriole ave. Sump pumps drain ed water from under houses but there were many sad hearts because of gardens flooded out or beaten down.

The Kirby McIntosh school board, has appointed Charles Schmidt, as the new full time custodian of the school.

Members of the board discovered that eight of the windows in the rear of the school building had been broken. Re placement falls on the taxpayers purses.

It has been reported that quite a few children have throat infections, caused by a virus.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Nutt, their son Joe and daughter Rose enjoyed a visit with their son Pfc. John Nutt, at Camp Lucas, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. There they also viewed the Grand Travers Bay, the Straits of Mackinac and the Soo Locks.

Mrs. Ruth Uitto has had the custody of her nephew, Charles Carpenter, while his mother was in the hospital. She also had the company of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lelvey and son Greg from Duluth, Minn.

Gregory was especially thrilled by his first plane ride which he took in his uncle's (Harvey Uitto) plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Pettit and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Pettit and son, visited Mr. and Mrs. Dean Pettit for a week from Polk, Penn. While they were here, they were shown Brookfield Zoo and Chicago and its museums.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stronk were paid a surprise visit by their nephew, Ed Heidegger, from Colorado and Jim Merchant a friend from Iowa. Ed's destination is Pearl Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans are enjoying a visit from Mrs. W. A. Haney, mother of Mrs. Evans from Pennsylvania. Mrs. Haney hopes to be here another month.

Mrs. Agnes Peters has relatives from McHenry, Ill. as houseguests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. White and son, Earl are visiting David Allen, son at Memphis, Tenn. A daughter, Doris and three grandchildren remained home.

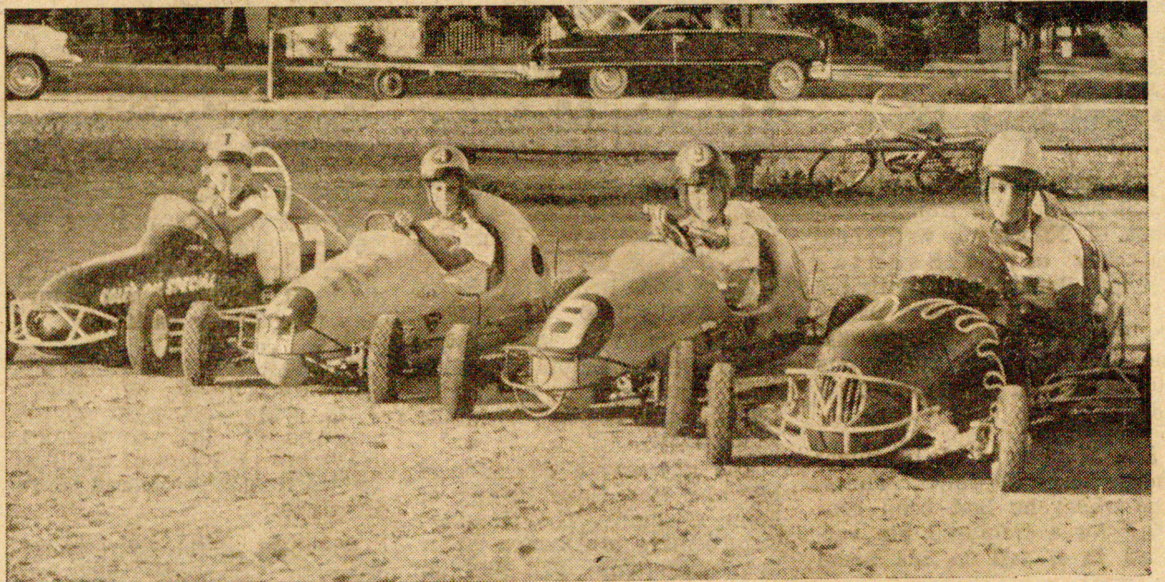

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Seppa and daughters Karen, Kathryn and Kristeen just returned from Lake Gogebic, in Michigan's upper peninsula.

Mrs. William Webster and children paid a visit to her father, Howard Smith at Kansas City, Mo. Quite a strain was lifted from Mrs. Webster's shoulders when she saw that her father, who was suffering from a heart attack, is on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hundley and children spent a week and a half vacation in Wisconsin. When they returned, they found the large picture window in their breezeway had been broken and evidence showed a rock had been thrown thru it. Two weeks ago, the Hundleys enjoyed a visit and a cup of coffee with Seaman Louis Flood, a recent resident of the Southlands.

Mrs. Henry Bormet has just returned from a conference in Lake Geneva, Wis.

Miss Gale Snyder received a gift of a beautiful piano from her parents and is burst-

AWAIT STARTER'S FLAG—These young pilots of the midget-midgets, who have been racing at regular junior tracks in the area this summer, will demonstrate their skill the night of Aug. 31 at Tinley's Memorial park. The midget-midget race will be one of the highlights of the Tinley Park Fall Festival. The festival is an annual event and the one this year promises to be one of the best in the town's history, according to those in charge. The young race drivers here (left to right) and the number of their cars, are: No. 7 Linda Cole, 7 years old; No. 9 Larry Dober, 9 years old; No. 4, Pat Paul, 11, and No. 25 Harold Mohr, 15. 75 Attend Ott Family Reunion; Affair is Held at Dellwood Park

By ELIZABETH ANDERSON
Lockport 186-W-2

About 75 relatives of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ott gathered at Dellwood Park Aug. 10, for their annual reunion. Picnic dinner and supper were enjoyed, also games with prizes for the winners. Mrs. George Ott was the oldest lady present and Walter Ott, the oldest man; Jimmie Blaesing, the youngest boy and Bonnie Garling, the youngest girl. Each of these received a gift for the distinction. Nearly all members of this large family live in the Lockport-Homer area. The Clarence Ott family will be in charge of next year's reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Finley entertained relatives in their home in Lockport, Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Rowley of Louisiana, who are spending their vacation with relatives here and in Chicago. Guests were present from Joliet, Earlville, New Lenox and Homer. Mr. and Mrs. Rowley and their three sons went to Chicago Sunday to visit her father.

Miss Patricia Hanson of St. Louis, Mo. spent last week with her uncle and aunt, the Roy Hansons. Thursday, the family, accompanied by Faye Rodgers, were Chicago sight-seers. She returned to her home Saturday with her parents who drove here for the day.

Charles Dale Sr., who underwent surgery in Silver Cross hospital last Monday, is doing nicely and was able to return to his home Saturday.

Janet Shepherd entertained several cousins at a slumber party Thursday night in the home of her grandparents, the Robert Shepherds, Sr.

The King's Daughters and friends spent an enjoyable afternoon at the church Friday, when they sponsored a silver tea and program which featured a one act comedy directed by Mrs. Hanson, "Too Many Marys". The cast included Mary Ann Backer of Lockport, Linda Nelson, Susanne and Edna Mae Burcham, and Betty and Faye Anderson. A vocal solo by Mrs. John Hollister, a piano solo by Betty, and a group of readings by Mrs. John Riley of Lockport were much appreciated by all.

Presiding over the tea and coffee services were Mrs. C. G. Rowley and Mrs. Walter Kettering. Table decorations were furnished by Mrs. Henry Rodgers.

A committee meeting was held Thursday evening to make plans for the management of the school property recently acquired by Homer church. A dedication service will be held late in October. Also a name will be presented to the church for a vote of approval. The school house is already being used for a Sunday school class and a nursery during the church service.

Bruce Anderson was a DeKalb business visitor Monday.

Gas Officials See Atomic Energy as Source of Pipeline Supply

Current developments in the gas industry thru research indicate a dynamic, new era of energy concepts and uses, according to an article in the current issue (July-August 1958) of FLAME; Northern Illinois Gas Company's employee magazine.

Atomic energy, solar energy and devices which convert gas into electricity are some of the advancements in technology shaping the future of energy usage, the article said.

The magazine story was compiled from addresses by Marvin Chandler, president of Northern Illinois Gas; Dr. Martin A. Elliott, director of the Institute of Gas Technology in Chicago; and Earl L. Tornquist, NI Gas research engineer.

The use of atomic energy to produce inexpensive pipeline gas from coal or water is being studied, according to the article. It seems possible that this development could be of greater value to the gas industry than to the electric industry. Efficient gasification of huge coal reserves by other than nuclear methods shows excellent promise of converting nature's vast coal deposits—even low grade coal now uneconomical to mine—into gas of high heating value.

Already, the Institute of Gas Technology in Chicago claims to have shown that oil bearing rock will yield gas with excellent burning qualities. Large quantities of this resource are known and await exploitation.

Harnessing the sun's energy may be far in the future but it would be a new energy form, dependent upon only sunshine and water. One of the many possible solar energy uses is in decomposing water to obtain hydrogen which could be distributed as a fuel gas. Hydrogen is being distributed in Germany at present, the article declared.

A big problem in solar energy development is storage for night and inclement weather usage. However, if the sun's energy could be converted to a gaseous state, present economical methods of gas storage would be the answer.

proved gas turbines for power purposes.

Well proved gas year round air conditioning units have been on the market for some time and others will be available in the near future. Research is making them even more economical and durable.

Fuel cells, which directly convert gas into electricity thru a chemical reaction of gas and air more than twice as efficiently as the conventional steam power plant, have been developed to operate mobile radar sets, according to FLAME. Modifications of the cell for home use are being studied.

Thus, the day may come when an underground gas pipe will bring all the energy needed by the home, stated the article. In addition to heating and cooling, gas would be used to operate all lights and appliances, including television, radio, clock, vacuum cleaners etc.

These, according to gas researchers, are some of the developments which illustrate the evolution in the gas industry and the dynamic improvements in energy usage in home and industry.

Hold Four-Day Pastor School for Methodists

Methodist ministers, serving churches in Illinois, will attend an Illinois Area Pastors' school to be held on the campus of the University of Illinois, Urbana, Aug. 25-29.

This is the one occasion during the year when Bishop Charles W. Brashares of the Illinois area brings together Methodist ministers of the state for fellowship, inspiration and study. In the three annual conferences of Illinois, there are 1,577 Methodist churches served by 1,132 pastors.

On the assumption that ministers need a refresher course the same as teachers, technicians or salesmen, guidance will be given in pastoral work, Christian ethics, and doctrinal problems.

Sessions on the pastoral ministry will be held by Bishop Richard C. Holmes of Indianapolis, who for 13 years was pastor of the Hennepin avenue Methodist church of Minneapolis, Minn. prior to his election in July 1948.

The implications of Christian ethics will be presented by the Reverend A. Dudley Ward, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Social and Economie Relations.

The significance of Christian doctrine will be discussed by Dr. Claude Thompson, professor of Christian Doctrine atandler School of Theology, Emory University, Ga.

Daily chapel services will be conducted by Bishop Brashares.

200 Methodists Attend Retreat in Wisconsin

The annual layman's retreat will attract more than 200 Methodist men to Wesley Woods, Aug. 23-24.

Located on beautiful Lake Geneva near Williams Bay, Wis., Wesley Woods is one of four summer camp grounds used by Rock River conference.

The retreat will start Saturday, Aug. 23 at 2 p.m. It will close after a 12:30 p.m. dinner on Sunday.

Featured leader for the week-end will be Dr. Harry Denman, general secretary of the Board of Evangelism.

Business and Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

In recent weeks, financial comment has been emphasizing "inflation" and its causes and likely effects. The word inflation does not describe steady lessening of purchasing power of the dollar as well as does the word "erosion."

All currencies since the origin of the first monetary unit of history, have shown a steady erosion in purchasing power. This erosion has gone on in greater or lesser degrees altho steadily. Monetary erosion is, in effect, a borrowing from the future. It also has the effect of a levy against capital. Those living on income from "fixed dollar" obligations always are heaviest hit. Seldom in history have governmental authorities had the courage to suggest a capital levy. It is, politically, easier and less painful to allow the monetary unit to depreciate in value.

Our Federal Reserve System, as now set up, has many powerful controls of money and credit. The board of governors of the Federal Reserve have kept a tight rein on our monetary system and without it this country might well be experiencing a severe inflation. Monetary controls, when used, always pinch some portions of industrial life and create political pressures.

Compared to other major countries, the average depreciation of our monetary unit has been small. Monetary experts try to keep the dollar erosion at an annual rate of less than 3 per cent. In recent years this limit has been threatened due to military and foreign aid expenditures as well as increase in social benefits to the populace. Big labor unions have achieved increases in wage benefits without equal increases in labor productivity. Our military and foreign aid spending is, of course, dictated by the actions of Russia and our counter measures.

The institutional investors, where permitted by law, have been shifting their investment portfolios from fixed dollar obligations to common stocks. This is particularly true where professional investment men have control.

About 30 years ago, Edgar Lawrence Smith, a well known New England investment banker and financial author, made a study of common stock as against bonds as a long time investment vehicle. His book covering this study is now closely studied by students of finance. He proved that over a longer period, well selected stocks protect "real wealth" (purchasing power) much better than do fixed dollar obligations and appreciate with the growth of the country. Due to wider knowledge of investments, the public is much more sophisticated.

Mrs. Milton Westlund Hostess at Delightful Luncheon in Her Home

By MRS. ROBERT ANDERSON
Fieldbrook 9-2857

Mrs. Milton Westlund was hostess at a recent luncheon in her new home which overlooks the large lagoon. Guests were: Mrs. Lyle White, Mesdames Weiss, Eckol, Militello, Mrs. Arthur Arnold, Mrs. William Bell and Mrs. Gordon Bendix. Mrs. Westlund served toasted hors d'oeuvres, chicken ala king and home made cherry pie. The girls were quite surprised to learn that Mrs. Westlund "rakes" her wool turf carpeting. Mrs. Arnold who has the same type carpeting went home with the rubber rake.

Mr. and Mrs. William Snedden entertained guests at a supper party in their spacious basement recreation room Saturday evening. A catering service prepared an exquisite buffet supper consisting of huge platters of fried chicken, ham, potato salad, dessert and coffee. Meillon baskets were at either end of the table and guests were seated at smaller tables. After dinner the tables were removed and guests danced to the accompaniment about some changes in investment emphasis. The stocks chosen as "defensive" investments due to their stability of earnings during business slow down—tobaccos, food, food chains, utilities, etc.—are now being displaced in favor by those stocks which are likely to show the greatest gains as business improves. These stocks would include those firms making heavy machinery for production, steel, oil and gas, business machines, etc.

Among stocks recommended for appreciation by Standard & Poor Stock Guide of August, 1958 are (in under $25 group) American Metal Climax, California Electric Power, Pepsi Cola, Whirlpool Corp.; ($25 to $40 group) Blaw Knox, Borg Warner, Harrison Walker, Pure Oil, Union Pacific R. R.; ($41 to $50 group) General Motors, Grace (W.R.) & Co., Ohio Oil, Phillips Pet., Timken Roller Bearings, ($51 to $75 group) Cities Service, Continental Insurance, General Dynamics, Owens-Illinois Glass, Standard Oil of Ohio, and United Aircraft.

July Banner Building Month for Suburbs

(CNS) In July, a banner month for the Chicago area home building industry, Oak Lawn retained its lead among southwest Cook county municipalities.

Oak Lawn issued 43 permits for new home construction, boosting its total for the first seven months of 1958 to 291.

July was the first time this year in the metropolitan area that any month showed a gain over the like month of last year, the Bell Savings & Loan association reports.

Led by the suburban towns, new home permits totaled 3,407, compared with 3,019 in July, 1957, an increase of 12.9 per cent.

Last month Oak Lawn topped its July, 1957, mark by two.

Other suburbs also bettering their totals of last July include Markham by 4, Midlothian by 26, and Blue Island by 3.

Standings for southwest municipalities thru July with last month's totals in brackets:

Down With the Bonny Blue Ballot!

Proponents of the so-called judicial reform amendment to the Illinois state constitution which is to be voted on in November are busy now claiming everything in sight.

According to their claims the blue ballot has the endorsement and backing of civic, labor, business and farm groups and the editorial support of the press and if such contentions are to be relied upon the amendment should be a shoo-in, come November.

We are taking the claims with the usual side dish of salt recommended for serving with the utterances of politicians concerning election results. We hope the proponents are wrong in their guesses. We are frank to say that we hope the blue ballot is snowed under by the voters as it was once before. It's the same amendment and the same treatment is prescribed.

The committee in charge of propaganda for the amendment has sent out editorials from six papers, five of them in Illinois and one in Missouri, urging support of the blue ballot. The reasons for such report vary.

One objection to the present Illinois judicial system is that it is 110 years old and therefore must be out of date; another favors the blue ballot because it would put justices of the peace and police magistrates on salaries instead of fees; another favors it because he believes it might be cheaper; another because he thinks it will provide more judges and therefore will speed up justice.

The main commodity of any court system should be justice. To us the important thing is not how fast justice is given but how sure.

Persons seeking to speed up the disposition of litigation and would rebuild the court system to attain their objective are living in a fool's paradise. One could have a court in session in every square mile in the state and it wouldn't speed up the disposition of cases. The only thing that would happen is that more judges would be idle for longer periods of time.

The courts and judges are not to blame for the delays litigants encounter from the time the case is filed until it is finally disposed of—for that one must look to the lawyers. Delay is one of the formidable weapons in an attorney's arsenal and regardless of the kind of court system we have, delays will always be with us.

Altho various bar associations have purportedly gone on record as favoring the blue ballot amendment there are many lawyers who are opposed to it and will vote against it.

The proposed amendment would make the circuit judges boss of the J. P.'s. Instead of justices of the peace and police magistrates being elected they would be appointed by the circuit judges, their titles changed to magistrates and their salaries paid by the state, thus creating a new patronage system.

The gimmick in the deal, as we see it, is to give political leaders of the Big Government school and opportunity to take over the judiciary.

Under the proposed amendment the legislature could enact a law changing the method of selecting judges—supreme court, appellate, circuit and the so-called associate circuit judges. There are no restrictions under the amendment and the legislature, under the whip of a governor and party bosses could pass a law under which all judges would be appointed.

A look at the dictatorial processes employed by the U. S. Supreme Court and other federal courts should be sufficient to cause anyone interested in the preservation of freedom to vote against an amendment under which the judges of Illinois would be appointed by politicians and probably for a tenure of life.

The amendment also provides for appointment of court clerks by the judges, so there would be other officials set beyond the long arm of the voter.

There is a growing move in the nation to appoint all administrative officials. Judges fall into this category, so do clerks, governors, all county and state officials now elected whose duties have nothing to do with passing laws or ordinances . . . and don't forget the President of the United States is classified as an administrator.

Proponents of the judicial reform measure may try to laugh this off and point out they are only trying to make a few changes to improve the Illinois court system. Such changes would leave a crack in the foundation upon which our government stands. A crack in a foundation if untended and unwatched can grow to where the entire base becomes so weakened that the whole building comes tumbling down.

always a part of the summer night scene.

We had many ideas and beliefs about bats—all of them wrong, of course, and we too were convinced that a bat's eyesight was unusually keen after dark and that it couldn't see anything in the daylight. In the daytime we would find them then suspended from rafters in barn lofts but never got too close.

We believed that bats had a penchant for human hair and it was this desire to become emeshed in one's locks caused them to dive suddenly in our direction as they flitted about doing their nightly chores. I don't recall just what we thought a bat did after it alighted on a person's head but probable we thought that it would eat its way into our brains. Such a thought, of course, would produce delightful shudders, as enjoyable as those experienced when listening to ghost stories or passing by a house well known as an abode for "hants."

Now that Dan had brought up the subject, I too began to wonder what had become of bats and wrote a letter to that effect to Robert Mann, of the Cook County Forest Preserve, whose articles on nature appear from time to time in this paper. We enjoy Mr. Mann's stuff. He not only writes entertainingly but he knows what he is writing about. Such a man, we knew, would not only have an answer but it would be the right one.

Mr. Mann wrote that Dan was correct, that there are less bats in the Chicago region than, say 20 years ago. The reason? Mr. Mann confesses that he cannot say for sure.

"Perhaps," he said, "less barns, breweries and similar congenial places for retreat during the summer months may account for the decrease. Human hair had no attraction for them. Human heads likewise. They had built in radar which enabled them to avoid such obstacles."

"I can remember a choir practice at the Methodist church in Beardstown (Ill.) when a bat invaded the premises and precipitated a wild fruitless chase. . . . Perhaps we had better do a new piece on bats."

We hope Mr. Mann writes such a treatise and if he does we will publish it.

The Sewers Again

Editor: After reading the Mayor's answer to the critics I just had to send this letter in.

Come, come your Honor, are a few letters upsetting you?

After all most of your large newspapers have a section devoted to the people that write in. Many times these letters have done a lot of good, in this case they caused you to make an explanation to the people. Elmer, it was a very good explanation BUT what did you explain, it seems like you were more concerned by the people writing letters than giving a good explanation on the sewer program. It sounded more like a statement from the big time politician. You or Tattum didn't explain a thing about sewers, not even a break down or a very rough estimate. Are you afraid the people would shy away from it if they had a slight idea what this folly of yours will cost?

You talk about rumors, we know you were in service as have been a lot of us, sometime the rumors did some good, other times not to good, but they used to get action. No, I don't believe you are waiting for a cut as you so stated in your "explanation", but isn't it true that Pace Associates had a lot of ground work all laid out and were close to a sewer system when you stepped in and upset everything by starting all over, causing a delay and probably a lot more money.

Was the Sanitary District ever consulted as to taking over our sewer problem, financing it and put it in a lot cheaper cost than we will probably pay now or did you have your mind made up?

A lot of us can't make the the village meetings and at least a letter in the newspaper can be read by a lot of people.

So your Honor don't let a few letters upset you so much, reading your explanations in the paper don't upset you very much as we do the voting.

In your explanation you still didn't explain the $5,000 set aside for garbage disposal and why with so many people against Schneider getting a liquor license you still gave it to him, McCarthy, I am ashamed of you that you even brought it back up. The people hadn't forgotten about it and didn't want that passed.

Amen.

Some weeks ago over a sandwich and a cup of coffee with Dan, the Lino Man, a question came up about bats—not old, not baseball, not those that produce hangovers, but the flittering kind that one used to see darting about on summer evenings, especially near street lights, as they pursued the erratic flights of the airborne ingredients of their evening meal.

"What," asked Dan, "has become of all those bats that used to be so plentiful? I remember as a kid," he went on, a faraway look in his eyes as he gazed back along the corridor of time, "when we used to play on the corners under the street lights on summer nights. It seems to me there were always bats zig-zagging around. I suppose they were chasing insects. We used to throw pebbles in the air to watch the bats dart after them, thinking they were bugs. After a bit, tho they would get smart and stop chasing the rocks."

"As far as I know," Dan continued, "we never fooled them to the point that they actually grabbed one of the rocks—at least we never found anything in the street that looked like they were bat teeth, and you know kids are pretty good at seeing things, especially strange and odd things, and I believe bat teeth would come under such classification."

"We didn't know about a bat's radar equipment, of course, and naturally attributed the bat's darts after the tossed pebbles to keen eyesight. Of course, we were familiar with the expression frequently heard in describing baseball umpires—blind as a bat altho," and here Dan paused as he pondered the thought judicially," altho the shoe may be on the other foot as far as bats are concerned. Perhaps the bats say, blind as an ump, altho I have no means of knowing this for certain as I do not understand nor speak the bat language. It is possible that I could read it because in my trade I have had to read some pretty weird scrawls, especially interlinear additions," he paused to cough delicately but pointedly, "that some of those in the editorial side are forever making to clutter up copy. Come to think of it I am sure I read bat language, at least I am sure I could set it."

The writer remembers even further back, when arc lights furnished illumination for street corners and bats were $800 million in assets...and only 11 years old!

From an idea to an $800 million corporation in eleven years... that's the meteoric pace of Texas Eastern's growth.

Texas Eastern was incorporated in January, 1947, to purchase the war-built Big Inch and Little Big Inch pipelines and to convert them to the transportation of natural gas. At the close of its first year, Texas Eastern's pipelines totaled 3,100 miles; its assets more than $156,000,000.

From this start, the company's assets have grown substantially... a growth that has taken place in two ways at once: by expansion of its pipeline system, and by diversification of its operations.

Expansions have more than doubled pipeline mileage in 10 years to some 7,700 miles. The company's pipelines now reach from Mexico to New York and Boston and from the Gulf Coast to Chicago.

To help meet insistent demands of winter, Texas Eastern has participated in development of one of the world's largest underground storage pools for natural gas. Gas placed in this pool during the summer is withdrawn as needed when winter comes.

One of the company's first diversification moves was acquisition of Triangle Pipeline Company, a petroleum products system serving East Texas, Northern Louisiana, and Southern Arkansas. In 1958 the company completed the reconversion of a major segment of its Little Big Inch line to petroleum products service. This line coupled with the former Triangle system forms the Little Big Inch Division—a common carrier products pipeline linking the Gulf Coast and Midwest.

A production division was formed to explore for and produce oil and natural gas and to acquire producing properties. In 1957 the extensive holdings of La Gloria Oil and Gas Company were added to the production division's interests.

In addition, La Gloria, a wholly-owned subsidiary, is owner of one of the world's largest natural gas processing plants and one of the industry's most modern refineries.

Texas Eastern's total assets—as of August, 1958—exceed $800,000,000. Thus, year-by-year, Texas Eastern grows in size and scope of service—the better to serve a nation grown dependent upon natural gas and refined oil products.

Fables and Facts on Education

By Cong. N. M. Mason
Columnist Raymond Moley in analyzing a recent book by Roger Freeman, "School Needs in the Decade Ahead", points out the great variance between the claims and statements of the National Education Association, the Federal Department of Education and Welfare and hosts of College Presidents on the one hand and the true educational facts of today on the other. The following is a summary of Mr. Moley's "Fable Fact" presentation:

Fable: "We have a crisis in education — teachers poorly paid, crowded classrooms, shortage of teachers. If we had greater financial resources, if we had Federal aid for our schools, we would do much better work in our schools."

Fact: Expenditures for education in 1956 reached 4.64 per cent of the national income, more than twice what they were in 1945. The United States pays out a higher proportion of its national income for education than any other country in the world.

Fable: "In 1957, Dr. George Counts, Teachers College Professor and head of the New York Liberal Party, said, 'The Russian people are supporting education several times more generously than the people of the United States.'"

Fact: A recent authoritative exhaustive study by UNESCO showed that the per capita expenditure of the USSR was $34.17 in 1956; while in the United States it was $103.94. The USSR spends a considerably lower percentage of its gross national product for education than does the United States. But while we are spending we are getting less and less in quality.

Fable: Money is the essential need."

Fact: Since 1890 the cost per pupil in our schools has increased tenfold in constant dollars. In that time school enrollment has increased threefold and prices threefold; but expenditures for education 100-fold.

In conclusion Mr. Moley contends that we are educating children for leisure-hours matters rather than in the fundamentals; that those fundamentals should be (a) to train children to think and (b) to respect and observe moral principles. I agree with Mr. Moley that if leisure-hour matters are to be taught, they should be offered in off-school hours, as an addition to the substance of a decent education in at-school hours.

There is a movement among so-called progressive educators to guide the minds of our American youth down the path to collectivism, to conformity, to a "freedom through belongingness" — whatever that means. It is being done under such high-sounding names as "personality development", "life adjustment", and group dynamics". Its objective is to indoctrinate our youth with the philosophy of socialism, collectivism, and the "one world idea".

Have our educators forgotten what can happen in countries when children in school are encouraged to "tell on" their parents? Have they forgotten the Hitler Youth Movement dedicated to the idea of "belonging together"?

In the June 9, 1958 issue of "Human Events", Emily Cuyler Hammond gives the following warning:

"Before passing H. R. 12630, Congress should ascertain whether we, the people, want American children's minds guided to induce them to conformity."

"Do we want our tax dollars used to stimulate irresponsible experimentation in an as yet unproven testing 'science', turning the public schools into laboratories in which no child can escape his turn as a guinea pig."

"Do we want parents and their children left unprotected against 'unreasonable searches' of their minds, their beliefs, habits, and associations?"

"Do we want to concentrate unwarranted power in the hands of the educationists and guidance counselors to mold American youth in the image of their choosing?"

"Having failed to learn the lesson of the Hitler Youth, do we want to prepare the way for a 'man on a white horse' to seize the imagination of American youth already weaned away from Mom and Dad, yearning for a beautiful togetherness with peoples everywhere?"

to, Culex pipiens, while on the increase thruout the District is only about a third of last year's production for this species for the same period. This domestic mosquito is not a serious biter, altho its annoying song after the lights are out makes it a pest.

Every one of the District's fifteen traps is lower than in any previous year at this time. The highest counts for the week ending August 9, were registered in Maple Lake and Orland Park. The lowest count occurred in the traps within the city of Chicago. The lowest suburban counts were in Harvey and Lemont.

In his monthly report to the district's trustees, Manager W. L. Buchanan pointed out that the July rainfall this year was 1.56 inches above normal. There is a very close correlation between amounts of rain fall and mosquito production. Taking the period of May 1 to August 2 for each year the district has been in operation, Buchanan's report showed the following tabulation of the number of weeks when the daily average of A. vexans (the District's major nuisance) exceeded 15 per trap night: Year, Number of weeks vexans exceeded 15 per trap night and total rainfall in Dist. period May 1, Aug. 2nd.

1955, 7, 9.74 inches; 1956, 7, 11.39 inches; 1957, 11, 17.51 inches; 1958, 5, 13.34 inches.

The figure of 15 per trap night is an approximation of the nuisance level for most people.

On Aug. 8, 1924, the Navy landed an airship on one of its ships for the first time, when the dirigible USS Shenandoah tied up to a mooring mast mounted on the USS Pakota.

"Skeeter" Traps Show Fewer of Pests in Area

Good news continued to come from headquarters of the South Cook County Mosquito Abatement District this week as its laboratory completed counts from the District's fifteen permanent light traps. For the week ending August 9, the total per trap night over the District was 51 female mosquitoes of all species. Only female mosquitoes bite, and there are 36 species known to the South Cook area. This figure compared with 81 for the same period last year, and is the lowest figure for this period in any of the four years of the District's history.

The vicious floodwater mosquito, Aedes Vexans, that caused so much discomfort to the District's residents in early July continued to decline. The domestic or house mosqui-

William A. Murphy is Graduated as Ensign from Officers School

By MRS. LILLIAN KNOX
Fieldbrook 9-0211

Wants Chief's Job-and Salary

(CNS)—Joseph F. Bowdish, who wants to be police chief of Markham, is fighting to collect $13,000 from Carl Relli, the man who holds the job. Circuit Judge Henry L. Burman has given Relli until September 9 to answer Bowdish's petition for two judgments. One seeks $3,000 in back salary and the other $10,000 for attorney's fees. The move for the judgments stems from the refusal of the appellate court, just before its summer recess, to reinstate a temporary injunction it set aside earlier in the year—an injunction that had restrained Bowdish and four of his supporters on the village board from interfering with Relli's operation of the police department.

Relli, since May 1, 1957, has been serving as chief on month to month appointments by Village President Albert F. Cash. Four of the village's seven trustees have refused to confirm his appointment. The four trustees—Leonard Larsen, Albert Cannella, Edwin Davis and George Uhl, favor Bowdish for the post.

A Bowdish lawsuit challenging Relli's right to hold the office is set for hearing Sept. 11 before Judge Harry M. Fisher in circuit court.

In the Bowdish petition for back salary, the amount of money is figured on the length of time between the injunction order and the reversal.

Cook County's Payroll Hits All-time High

(CNS) Cook county's payroll has hit an all time high.

A total of 13,265 persons, the highest ever, were employed in the county's 41 departments as of July 31, according to records of County Deputy Comptroller C. R. Hodgman. Total payroll for July was $5,091,120.42.

The payroll cost is an increase of $155,066 over June, 1958, and a boost of $282,314 over July, 1957.

The July employe total is an increase of 161 over the previous record high set in June and a jump of 623 over July of last year.

Departments with the most employes include the county school of nursing (2,467), county hospital (1,584), county highway department (1,367), Oak Forest hospital (1,348), and county public assistance welfare department (1,145). Hodgman pointed out that many employes in the nursing school department work at county hospital.

The biggest increase was in the county highway department where there were 200 more workers this July than in July, 1957. The highway department is tackling the greatest highway construction program in the county's history.

The number employed increased in all but seven departments over a year ago.

Departments where decreases occurred in the year period, with the greatest number of employes listed, include:

County auditor 161, down 13; county court clerk, 39, down 15; recorder, 423 off 8; state's attorney's office 211, off 4; superintendent of schools 21, off 4; health department 67, down 2; and county clerk 371, down 1.

Culled here from the July 31 payroll report are the number of employes in some of the other more well known county departments:

Treasurer 378, assessor 423, family court, 238, Audy Home 202, Circuit court clerk 111, Superior court clerk 93, Probate court clerk, 75, Criminal court clerk, 59 and coroner 53. The sheriff has 1,105 employes in four departments. They are custodian 151, general office 553, county jail 322 and Criminal court building, 79.

On Aug. 3, 1942, Mildred A. McAfee became the first woman ever to be commissioned in the navy.

Graduated from officer candidate school at Newport, R. I., Aug. 15 was Navy Ensign William A. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Murphy of route 2, box 131, Orland Park, a graduate of Albion college, Albion, Mich.

Graduates are qualified to meet not only the technical problems facing a junior officer in today's modern fleet, but also the special leadership problems posed by our fleet's world wide commitments.

Rear Admiral Carl F. Espe, USN, Commandant of the First Naval District, was guest speaker and presented certificates of completion to the honor graduates.

The severe electrical storm that accompanied the heavy rain last Friday morning caused the destruction of a vacant summer cottage at 82nd and 143rd st. A bolt of lightning struck the place about 6 a.m.

The Orland Park fire department responded to the alarm but the fire had gained such headway before firemen were called that the blaze was out of control and the structure was leveled.

Firemen were called out Sunday morning when Mrs. Schmidley, mother of Mrs. Dale Bryant, Palos Heights, collapsed while attending church services at St. Michael's church. She was taken home and has recovered.

The Esther circle of the Orland Methodist WSCS will meet at the home of Mrs. Martin Schumacker, 7619 124th P. L., Palos Heights at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, August 28. A potluck dinner will be served at noon. Come prepared to sew carpet rags.

Carpentier Says "No" to Special Scooter License

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier today expressed his complete opposition to any proposal to establish special driver licenses for 14 and 15 year olds to permit them to operate motor scooters.

Mr. Carpentier's remarks were made at a press conference called because of what he described as "the extreme importance of this question."

"I have consistently opposed proposals to raise the minimum age for licensing drivers to 18 years, and I am even more strongly opposed to lowering it," Secretary Carpentier said. "Youngsters 14 and 15 years of age are simply not old enough to cope with the problems encountered in modern street and highway traffic."

"Motor scooters are not toys or playthings, and our highways are no playgrounds," Mr. Carpentier said. "A motor scooter is a motor vehicle in common understanding and should be treated the same as any other motor vehicle, for the simple reason that a consistent program of traffic safety does not permit special treatment for any particular class of vehicle."

Very few 14 and 15 year old youths have sufficient money of their own to purchase a motor scooter, and consequently their possession of those vehicles is with the consent and cooperation of their parents, he said.

Rosemary E. Hake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hake of Haven, Ariz. received a Bachelor of Arts degree Aug. 14 at the Northern Illinois university, DeKalb.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Osmus of New Lenox had an undesirable experience with the storm last Thursday evening. They and their son Gordon and his children Jackie and Gordon Jr. of Aurora, and the Osmus grandchildren Donna, Hubert and Lilly Ann of New Lenox, motored to the Illinois State fair Wednesday. On their return late Thursday afternoon, they ran into a severe rain and hail storm when they came to Troy.

They had to stop there to exchange occupants, having made the trip with two cars. With the large hail stones pounding on the cars, they were forced to wait at Troy until the storm abated sufficiently to permit the exchange. It was very treacherous driving through heavy sheets of rain and they were glad when they arrived home in New Lenox.
